

Getting to the heart of creativity.

Kimberly Brown facilitates events that provide creative, playful, inspiring spaces to make art, good conversation and take a moment to remember that you are not a machine.

PLAY

Playfulness is about having fun, but it's not easy. You also have to remember how to do things without any expectations around outcomes and success. Let's jog your memory.

RISK

Bringing something new into the world takes courage and a whole lot of mistakes. Art lets you practice taking risks without doing anything your insurance wouldn't cover.

VALUE

You are a human being whose value has nothing to do with what you achieve or produce. This art-making is about the process, not the outcomes. Get stuck into it.

the CLASS (short workshop)

Short workshops* start with drinks, welcome and introduction of the three key tenets of the event: play, risk and value. Participants are given an explanation of the materials and the project along with conversation cards and inspiration sheets. There are opportunities throughout to get food, order more drinks and explore the conversation topics at their own pace. The event is thoughtfully designed to create a relaxed and inspirational setting to loosen up, stretch the creativity muscles and exercise the right to have a good time.

All art materials and supplies are provided, including drop cloths and aprons. The venue must provide appropriate space (access to water and waste water drain), tables, chairs and catering.
