LONG PROGRAM

Art Workshops for kids begin with an energetic, movement-oriented, group art experience designed to break down barriers to creativity. The first activities are engaging and immersive and require participants to respond quickly and without self-consciousness. By removing personal ownership from the initial projects, participants are encouraged to move freely, play, stop fearing mistakes and imperfection.

The second session of the workshop gives participants the opportunity to create their own artwork to take home. This process is guided by a trained art teacher and builds on the values of creativity that have been established in the first section: play, embracing mistakes and placing value on the process (not the outcome).

Each session is actively facilitated by the instructor (Kimberly Brown) with instructions, feedback and encouragement. Ultimately, the focus of the workshops are to encourage creativity and a chance to experience art as play, all the while instilling the notion that what we make never defines our self worth.

FEES:

One participant ticket (school-aged) for 2 x 2-hour workshops is $100, inclusive of all art-making materials: brushes, drop sheets, paint, paper, other random props, easels, snacks and a drink (during each session) and a canvas for final artwork.

It's free for ONE adult guardian to participate in the group art-making session, in fact, it's encouraged!
